The back story was some of the worst decisons and parts (So far) of my life, the demonic hands, demons and flames symbolize my childhood and some of my teenage years growing up with a mom who's strong, brave, supportive selfless and would do anything for her kids her only flaw was bipolar one day she forgot to take her meds and slipped into a psychosis. Me my mom and sister got split up I was in another state with my grandparents My sister with her dad and my mom somewhere getting help when it was all over my mom was better then ever and we became a family again then my head started telling me god didnt love me and I would only go to heaven if I killed myself 6th grade I stoped getting bullied and become the bully 7th-8th I started smoking weed heavily 9th and some of 10th I was breaking into houses, car hoping, driving stolen cars, stealing alchoal, selling alchoal & fake cocain, helped my freind prostitute herself, skipping school almost died of alchoal posining, in and out of cop cars and ended up on the 10'll news for burning a trump flag seeing freinds in a hospital bed cause they snorted pills. (still smoking) met this girl I really liked and partied with her and she had a seziure. I was sent from a school that had "bad kids" to a school for "bad kids" I was mentally, emotionally, verbally and a couple times physically abusive towards my mom the person I value most I regret it all my mom is to good for me and the life god gave her. For 2 years 24/7 I had dibilitating panic attacks triggerd by my ocd Theophobia of me going to hell I would do ocd rituals to calm me down and try to please god by turning lights on and off a certain amount of times stuff that dosent make sense if your mentally healthy and my mom still took care of me this is the tip of the iceburge none the less My mom, Judge Thorson, My P.O ember, david, yankee hill and gods grace are the only reason Im not dead in a ditch or human trafficked. A good support system and seeing your freind in an open casket and another that didnt live to see 16 Really opens up ones eyes long live Zayne long live Kamdan
