Shannon Palmer

I studied mediation while completing course work for my JD, received from University of Nebraska in 2009, and completed family mediation training in August, 2011. At that time I became affiliated with The Mediation Center in Lincoln and began co-mediating with them. Since then I have worked on 15 or 20 family cases, mediating parenting plans, property settlements, and financial settlements between separating or divorcing couples and parents. I am also interested in mediating different types of cases: I have sat in on a small claims court mediation, and plan to become more involved with that; I have also attended a workshop on juvenile victim-offender mediation, which I hope to become involved in as well.
