Probation Provided Services

Probation Provided

Services Available Statewide

These services are provided by probation officers/staff within every probation district. Facilitated groups may include topical, supervision groups, cognitive programs or skill-building, life skills enhancement, and general education of juveniles.

Education Group

1. Real Colors

- A. Program Component:
 - i. The Real Colors Program is a strength-based one-time education class designed to assist juveniles in identifying their temperament type to better understand human behavior, specifics about personality temperaments in order to improve communication with others.
- B. Target Population:
 - i. Juveniles assessed as high risk and a supportive adult
- C. Program Outcomes:
 - i. Understanding of self-temperament style and how others think, feel, behave according to their temperament style to enhance communication and understanding with other personalities.

Preparing For Cognitive Programming

1. Seeds for Success

- A. Program Component:
 - i. Seeds for Success provide educational information that assists in acquiring new information, introducing new skill development, and improving decision-making skills. This program can be used as an education skill building program or preparing for a more intensive cognitive restructuring program such as MRT, ART or T4C.
 - ii. Probation officers utilize a standard manual curriculum and are specifically trained to facilitate all the Seeds for Success exercises according to program fidelity. This curriculum is facilitated in a closed group setting.
- B. Target Population:
 - i. Assessed at Low to Low Moderate on the YLS who needs new skills in better decision making.
- C. Program Outcomes:
 - i. Improved decision-making or prepared for a more intensive cognitive restructuring program

Cognitive Skill-Based Groups

1. Girls Circle (Lincoln Only)

A. Program Component:

- i. Girls Circle is a gender responsive specific curriculum that promotes resiliency and healthy relationships with other youth, and adults within their communities. It is designed to enhance self-efficacy, positive body image, increase social supports and decrease self-harming behavior and substance use. The program accomplishes this through experiential learning and guided group discussions.
- ii. Girls Circle is facilitated in a closed group format with a specific manualized curriculum.

B. Target Population:

- i. Females assessed as low to low-moderate on the YLS for gender specific skill building.

C. Program Outcomes:

- i. Builds participants self-efficacy to increase positive self-image and promotes development of healthy relationships.

2. Building Social Networks

A. Program Component:

- i. Building Social Networks assists youth with learning ways to build and strengthen support for recovery. Support groups encourage participants to use AA/NA and other social support groups to support recovery. Identifies alternative decision-making for those youth living in unhealthy situations and how to problem solve in order to support their recovery.
- ii. Building Social Networks is an educational skill building program that is a closed group and utilizes the group setting to introduce new skills to support recovery.

B. Target Population:

- i. Those youth who are in recovery and have an elevated risk domain in substance use.

C. Program Outcomes:

- i. Youth will learn how to find social networks to support their recovery.

3. Why Try

A. Program Component:

- i. The Why Try Program is a strength-based approach to helping youth overcome their challenges and improve outcomes in the areas of truancy, behavior and academics. It is based on sound, empirical principles, including Solution Focused Brief Therapy, Social and Emotional Intelligence and multisensory learning.
- ii. The idea is straight-forward: Teach social and emotional principles to youth in a way they can understand and remember. This is accomplished using a series of ten pictures (visual analogies). Each visual teaches a discrete principle, such as resisting peer pressure, obeying laws and rules, and that decisions have consequences. The visual components are then reinforced by music and physical activities. The major learning styles – visual, auditory, body-kinesthetic – are all addressed.
- iii. This is an open group curriculum

B. Target Population:

- i. Those juveniles that are age 16 and below have elevated domains in the areas of Education/Employment

C. Program Outcomes:

- i. Desired outcome is for school resiliency and increase school, employment engagement. Elevated risk areas of school attendance, performance, discipline concerns and achievement.

4. Rural Improvement for Schooling and Employment (RISE)

A. Program Component:

- i. RISE is a skill-based program specifically targeting youth struggling in school academically, as well as with attendance and behaviors. RISE Program Specialists who are AmeriCorps Members facilitate groups with a developed curriculum targeted for specific educational and/or employment skills.
- ii. The RISE Program has 6 sessions which focus on education and employment success, including goal setting, test taking, educational anxiety, employment preparedness and more.

B. Target Population:

- i. Those juveniles who score high risk or have an elevated domain in the area of Education/Employment. Additionally can be used as a graduated sanction when a youth begins struggling in school.

C. Program Outcomes:

- i. Increased success at school including grades, attendance and behavior. Reduction in returning to the probation system a year after program completion.

Cognitive Restructuring Programming

1. Moral Reconciliation Therapy (MRT)

- A. Program Component:
 - i. MRT is a systematic, cognitive-behavioral, step-by-step treatment strategy designed to enhance self-image, promote growth of a positive, productive identity, and facilitate the development of higher stages of moral reasoning. Why MRT? Numerous outcome studies show that MRT significantly increases moral reasoning levels, enhances life purpose, facilitates increased social support and gives participants more perceived control over their lives. One way to assist probationers in the change process is through the implementation of Cognitive Programming. Moral Reconciliation Therapy is an Evidenced-Based Practice that research outcomes supports significantly lowers recidivism for program participants. MRT is rooted in Social Learning Theory, Lawrence Kohlbergs' Theory on Moral Reasoning, and Erik Ericksons' Human Development Theory.
 - ii. Probation officers utilize a standard manual curriculum and are specifically trained to facilitate all the MRT exercises according to program fidelity. This is an open group curriculum which means new members can enter the group at any time
- B. Target Population:
 - i. Juveniles age 16 and above, assessed as Moderate to Very High on the YLS, elevated risk domains of Attitude Orientation, Pro-criminal Orientation and Alcohol/Drug Use.
- C. Program Outcomes:
 - i. Designed to increase participants' level of moral reasoning, improve self-identity replacing faulty thinking patterns with healthy thinking patterns, which leads to better decision-making. Learn how to heal damaged relationships, importance of contributing to their community and setting long-term and short term goals.

2. Thinking For a Change (T4C)

- A. Program Component:
 - i. The Thinking for a Change: "An Integrated Approach to Changing Offender Behavior" (T4C) curriculum, uses a combination of approaches to increase juveniles' awareness of themselves and others. It integrates cognitive restructuring, social skills, and problem solving. The program begins by teaching juveniles an introspective process for examining their ways of thinking and their feelings, beliefs, and attitudes. The process is reinforced throughout the program. Social-skills training is provided as an alternative to anti-social behaviors. The program culminates by integrating the skills juveniles have learned into steps for problem solving. Problem solving becomes the central approach juveniles learn that enables them to work through difficult situations without engaging in criminal behavior" (Milkman & Wanberg, 2007).
 - ii. Probation officers utilized a standard manual curriculum and are specifically trained to facilitate all the T4C exercises according to program fidelity. This is a closed group curriculum, which means all participants begin with the first lesson and continue each week with the same group building on each lesson.
- B. Target Population:
 - i. Juveniles that are consider Moderate to Very High on the YLS, and with alleviated risk domains of Attitude Orientation, Pro-criminal Orientation and Alcohol/Drug Use. Juveniles who lack social skills or lower cognitive abilities or are younger would benefit from this program
- C. Program Outcomes:
 - i. Designed to equip participants with new ways of thinking, improve decision making and increase social skills.

3. Aggression Replacement Therapy (ART)

- A. Program Component:
 - i. Aggression Replacement Training (ART) is an Evidence-Based intervention designed to alter the behavior of chronically aggressive youth. The program consists of skill streaming, designed to teach a broad curriculum of prosocial behaviors; anger control training, a method for empowering youth to modify their own anger responsiveness; and moral reasoning training, to help motivate youth to employ the skills learned via the other components.
 - ii. Skill streaming training teaches youth what to do in threatening or stressful situations. Activities include modeling, role-playing, and performance feedback. This is a manualized standard curriculum that has 30 sessions.
 - iii. Anger Control training includes having participants relate examples of anger-arousing experiences from situations that have occurred in their own lives. The group facilitator uses a structured reporting checklist (hassle log) to reinforce the skills from the lesson.
 - iv. Moral Reasoning training aims to raise participants' awareness of others' points of view and teaches youth to view their world in a more fair and equitable way.
 - v. ART can be run as a closed or open group
- B. Target Population:
 - i. Juveniles consider Moderate to Very High on the YLS, and with alleviated risk domains of Attitude Orientation, Pro-criminal Orientation and Alcohol/Drug Use.
- C. Program Outcomes:
 - i. ART is an impactful intervention with considerable reliability that is designed to:
 - 1) Promote skill acquisition and performance
 - 2) Improve anger control
 - 3) Decrease the frequency of acting-out behaviors
 - 4) Increase the frequency of constructive, prosocial behaviors

Drug Testing

Drug testing is offered by probation staff in every district. These drug technicians are trained in the newest technology and procedures. Increased or reduced drug testing can be utilized as a sanction or incentive for probationers who have an identified high risk domain in substance abuse.

Family Team Meetings

Family Team Meetings are case planning meetings that involve the youth, their family, other formal/informal supports, Probation Officer, applicable treatment or non-treatment service providers, and any other stakeholders in the youth's probation case. These meetings will occur, per statute, a minimum of one time a month while a youth is in YRTC placement. However, these meetings are essential in all probation cases as the Probation officer uses responsive case management skills to facilitate assessment of the youth's progress and readiness to return to a pro-social lifestyle in their home and community.

Probation Specific Case Management Tactics

Specialized Case Loads

Probation districts have a Treatment Officer in every district to assist in difficult cases. Part of their case load can be the high risk and high need youth that are frequently associated with behavioral health or mental health treatment needs. Highly trained and skilled probation officers are also assigned caseloads with juveniles who sexually harm. Officers are specially trained with high risk youth with low caseloads to be highly engaged with the youth and family.

Motivational Interviewing

Motivational Interviewing (MI) is a style of communicating that helps people explore and resolve ambivalence about changing specific, maladaptive behaviors. Created by two preeminent social scientists, William Miller and Stephen Rollnick, this Evidenced-Based Practice (EBP) enhances our opportunity for accomplishing our Vision and Mission of reducing recidivism, establishing long-term behavior change and enhanced community safety. Staff utilization of Motivational Interviewing is imperative in our commitment to implementation of EBP. Motivational Interviewing enables employees a communication approach designed to mobilize an individual's internal desire for change and to resolve ambivalence for continued change. We recognize that changing behavior, thinking and attitudes are necessary for long-term change. Motivational Interviewing assists us in our work with the non-voluntary, resistant, and often difficult clients and their families for better engagement, to encourage and support change.

Motivational Interviewing Training

1. New Probation Officer Phase I Motivational Interviewing Skill Training (3 days)
2. New Probation Officer Phase II Motivational Interviewing Skill Training (2 ½ days)
3. Phase III (Advanced) Motivational Interviewing Skill Training for Specialized Officers (3 days)
4. Motivational Interviewing Skill training for Support Staff, Drug Technicians, and RISE Specialists
5. Motivational Interviewing Skill training for Managers (coming soon)

- 1) Level A—MH
Youth Care Coordination, Level A uses the wraparound philosophy to maintain the youth in the home developing a plan of care specific to their needs. Region II will provide services to dual diagnosis youth.
 - 2) Level B—MH
Youth Care Coordination, Level B also uses the wraparound philosophy to support families with a child with a mental health diagnosis. This is for families who would benefit from a lower level of care and help with the coordination of services. Region II will provide services to dual diagnosis youth.
 - 3) Level T—Intensive Case Management—MH and SA
Youth Care Coordination, Level T is a program for adolescent and young adults with a severe mental health and/or substance abuse diagnosis who are moving into the adult system. We provide wraparound support helping them experience a seamless transition to the adult behavioral health system.
