9:00am-9:15am Crystal 1-4	Welcome and Opening Remarks

9:15am-10:45am | Keynote Crystal 1-4 | Josh Shipp

The Power of One Caring Adult

Josh Shipp was a foster kid, class clown, a trouble maker. He was written off, kicked out, and every adult's worst nightmare. Until one caring adult changed everything. In his trademark playful yet authoritative style, Josh delivers practical ways that your audience can make a difference in a kid's life.

As a foster kid, class clown, and troublemaker, Josh knows what it's like to be left out and left behind by almost everyone. And yet, thanks to just one caring adult, he turned his life around and learned to thrive. Equal parts empathy, instruction, and inspiration, this unforgettable talk will move your audience to action.

11:00am-12:15pm Breakout Session 1

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Navigating Trafficking and Exploitation of Native Youth in Nebraska Tribal Communities

Diamond 1 Misty Flowers, Kirby Williams

Participants will receive a brief overview on the dynamics and factors associating with trafficking and exploitation of Native American youth in Nebraska's Tribal Communities.

- Demonstrate understanding of how crime victimization affects Native American populations, including human trafficking and child sexual exploitation.
- Understand vulnerabilities and risk factors for Indigenous youth and tribal communities (both rural and urban), especially in relation to child welfare, systems response, and historical trauma.
- Identify how to best advocate for Native American youth and crime victims, including communication techniques, cultural considerations, and unique needs of this community.
- Understand the historical significance of relevant tribal law and basic tribal jurisdiction in Nebraska

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Using Adolescent Development and Risk Reduction to Guide Case Closure

Diamond 3 Amoreena Brady, Martin Malina, Danelle Reed

Description TBA

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Nebraska 988

Diamond 4 Michelle Nunemaker

988 went live across the nation on July 16, 2022. In this session, participants will learn about the three key pillars of 988 and the implementation of 988 in Nebraska to include what we've learned so far and where we plan to go moving forward.

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Barriers to Permanency

Diamond 5 Judge Randin Roland, Judge Vernon Daniels

Judges discuss barriers to permanency, and identify solutions

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Addressing Youth Homelessness in Greater Nebraska: the Youth Homelessness Demonstration Program

Diamond 7 Alex LaBenz, Andra White

Breakout facilitators will present historical background and current areas of need for greater Nebraska's youth at risk of or experiencing homelessness. The YHDP's implementation, statewide strategies, and community collaboration during its two and a half years of growth will be discussed, including the YHDP's innovative approaches to meet specific needs across communities, and how that has led to better results for young people throughout the state. Session attendees will learn about the impact the YHDP has had through youth experiences and testimonials, along with analysis of the outcomes young people have achieved. Facilitators will guide a conversation among attendees focused on fostering collaboration between professionals, young people, and communities as the YHDP model continues to grow and improve the lives of Nebraskans.

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Addressing the Needs of Youth with Developmental Disabilities

Diamond 8 Julie Smith, Tony Green

This session highlights the complex needs of justice involved youth with developmental disabilities and the efforts to collaborate across agencies at the local and state level to create meaningful interventions. DHHS-DD will define what is a developmental disability, how it is diagnosed and their role in supporting disabled individuals. This will include funding, service coordination and how statute impacts their services. Probation will focus on the relationship between developmental disabilities and crime, community-based resources and case management strategies for maximizing success. This will include the impact of detention, utilization of out of home placement and the response to aggression and non-compliance.

Participants will be provided tools to support further work with individuals with disabilities and should:

- Develop a base understanding of what is a developmental disability and how it impacts communication and behaviors.
- Take away specific resources and case management strategies to utilize in their daily work
- Be able to identify gaps or barriers within their own communities that are pulling individuals deeper into the justice system in response to their disability
- Be provided ideas of how to develop of community-based alternatives to meet the needs of this population

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm What's new with DHHS

Diamond 9 Dr. Alger M. Studstill, Jr., Stephanie Beasley

Breakout facilitators will present historical background and current areas of need for greater Nebraska's youth at risk of or experiencing homelessness. The YHDP's implementation, statewide strategies, and community collaboration during its two and a half years of growth will be discussed, including the YHDP's innovative approaches to meet specific needs across communities, and how that has led to better results for young people throughout the state. Facilitators will guide a conversation among attendees focused on fostering collaboration between professionals, young people, and communities as the YHDP model continues to grow and improve the lives of Nebraskans.

Breakout Session 1 11:00am-12:15pm Foundations of Youth Engagement

Diamond 10 Bobbi Taylor

Authentic Youth Engagement is an approach that values the wisdom and expertise of young people. It brings to life a philosophy, that policies and practices will be fundamentally better when we partner with young people who have lived experience. In this session you can expect foundational principles of youth engagement and how to begin to apply these principles to your efforts.

1:15pm-2:30pm Breakout Session 2
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	ICWA and working with Native families
Diamond 1	Edison Rednest, III
We will discuss the history and address causes that lead to the removal of Native children. We will discuss next steps about understanding the Unique dynamic of each Native family and how to use their strengths to get them on the right path.
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	Intersection of Brain Injury and Juvenile Justice
Diamond 2	Dennis Marks, Peggy Reisher
Traumatic brain injuries (TBI) are prevalent in about 8.5% of the population. At this level, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention considers traumatic brain injury (TBI) to be a public health crisis. However, research indicates that the prevalence of brain injury (BI) is 20-67% in samples of juvenile offenders. Local preliminary data indicates: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 55% of youth in detention screened positive for BI • 21% of youth in a community-based juvenile justice program screened positive for BI • 8% of youth in diversion screened positive for BI Juviles with brain injury tend to struggle while incarcerated because of the sequelae of brain injury. They experience reduced comprehension, recall, attention, ability to manage behavior, and poor impulse control, causing their behavior to look intentional. There is evidence that brain injury increases the risk for recidivism after release from correctional settings, and a 2014 piece by Adam Piccolino and Kenneth B. Solberg published in the Journal of Correctional Health Care reported that offenders with a history of brain injury have higher recidivism rates — ranging from 33% to 51% — than inmates with no history of brain injury. Unaddressed, these symptoms prevent youth with brain injury from successfully integrating into the community. What is most alarming is that brain injury is often not on the radar of the criminal justice system as a potential issue affecting juveniles. In addition, the impact brain injury can have on their behavior is largely misunderstood. To help these juveniles struggling with brain injury get the care they need, professionals working in this area must understand the symptoms of brain injury, how they can affect an individual’s behavior, and how to provide the support they need. Presenters will provide an overview of brain injury signs and symptoms, the prevalence of brain injury in justice-involved youth, and simple tools and strategies you and the justice-involved youth can utilize to minimize the effects of brain injury once it is identified through a screening process.
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	Lived Experience and Child-Serving Systems: Examining our values, identities, and beliefs to improve practice
Diamond 3	Ivy Svoboda, Kristin Chandler, Amber Smith
Incorporating the voice of children and families most impacted by our systems has been widely identified in the child welfare and juvenile justice field as a system improvement strategy. However, there are often significant obstacles and barriers individuals and organizations in our field encounter to including and honoring lived experience. It can be hard to know where to start. This interactive workshop will provide attendees an opportunity to examine and share about their own values, identities, and beliefs about efforts to include the expertise and voice of survivors of child abuse and their families. We will also examine beliefs can connect to how we work with children and families, how organizational and system structures interact with these beliefs and assumptions.
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	Beliefs, Bias and Best Interests in Juvenile Court
Diamond 5	Laurel Johnson, Michele Paxton
In this session, participants will explore how beliefs and biases impact advocacy and outcomes in juvenile court. Examining these perceptions through a critical lens allows professionals to expand their analysis which, ultimately, can improve outcomes for children and families.

1:15pm-2:30pm Breakout Session 2
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	Bridging Forward - Workforce Development and Poverty Alleviation Initiative
Diamond 7	Brady Rhodes
What will it take to reduce poverty 30% by 2030 in southcentral Nebraska while simultaneously enhancing our workforce? An innovative Poverty Alleviation System that takes advantage of this unique moment: unprecedented assistance dollars at a time when employers are struggling to fill vacancies. This is the time to permanently lift underemployed people out of poverty and onto a Prosperity Pathway that exists with greater coordination among community stakeholders, robust conversations about seemingly intractable challenges and employer adaptations to work with populations they may be unfamiliar with. You will be introduced to the Poverty Alleviation System used by Bridging Forward and review many of the person-centric materials we are using that really make a difference!
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	Examining Missingness among Children in Out-of-Home Care Placement in Nebraska
Diamond 8	Dr. Alger M. Studstill, Jr.; Alyssa Nystrom; Jennifer Carter; Rebekka Hampton; Dr. Tara N. Richards; Heather Wood; Kari Rumbaugh; Monika Gross
On January 20, 2020, a point-in-time count of missing persons in Nebraska was conducted and uncovered that two-thirds of Nebraska’s reported missing persons were children (i.e., in Nebraska, minors aged 18 years or younger) (see Sutter et al., 2020; Richards et al., 2021). Based on this finding a research collaboration between the Foster Care Review Office and researchers at UNO, with support from the Children and Family Services Division of NDHHS, was initiated with the goal of examining the prevalence and contexts of “going missing” from out-of-home care in Nebraska. </> This session will include a broad summary of themes from previously conducted research which examined running from care and missingness amongst children in foster care, a description of the current study methodology and analyses conducted, along with findings which compare prevalence and contexts for children who go missing across various groups, including an expanded research population with youth who were system involved due to delinquency. Following presentation of the study results there will be an interactive discussion with a panel of system experts who have a shared focus on missing children. Questions to the panel will cover current system practices when children are missing, trends related to missingness, preventative measures, and policy implications. Audience members are encouraged to submit additional questions of interest on this topic. A review of related community and statewide resources available to families, caregivers, providers, and the public will be shared with audience members.
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	Guide to Termination of Parental Rights
Diamond 9	Chris Turner; Tana Fye
Learn from a Deputy County Attorney and an attorney in private practice about termination of parental rights. Included subtopics are: tips for County Attorneys, GALs and HHS; To File or Not to File; Filing Procedures; Getting Your Ducks in a Row, including gathering evidence, pretrial motions, preparing witnesses, preparing exhibits; trial considerations, and ICWA.
Breakout Session 2 1:15pm-2:30pm	We Should Talk About Bruno; The Value of Youth Voice in Transition Planning
Diamond 10	Keenan C Page; Deanna Brakhage; Felipe Longoria
Our panel of young adults with lived experience will discuss their experiences and subsequent insights on ways that professionals can empower young people to lead their own transition plans. Successful youth-led transition planning relies on relationship building, trust, and engaging in meaningful conversations to deeply explore opportunities, goals, and the young person’s identity. Professionals can practice methods to create support that is non-judgmental, resists imposing personal bias, and gives young people space and encouragement to dream, ultimately helping young people envision their own future — whatever that may be. Session attendees will walk away with an increased understanding of young adult’s perspective in transition planning, and tools to aid young people in creating unique transition plans that are consistent with their needs, hopes and goals for their future.

3:00pm-4:15pm Breakout Session 3
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Immigration Issues for Children in Family Court Practice
Diamond 1	Jenna Ripke, BriAnn Campos
This presentation will discuss potential forms of immigration relief for children involved in state court proceedings, with a focus on Special Immigrant Juvenile Status (SIJS). Presenters will discuss eligibility for SIJS, obtaining the necessary factual findings, and other concerns in working with immigrant youth in the family court system.
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Reactive Attachment Disorder and Related Disorders
Diamond 2	Deb Wesselman
The presenter will describe the generational transmission of attachment disturbances and the negative impact on the development of the brain and nervous system, the capacity for self-regulation and self-reflection, and risk for mental disorders, substance abuse problems, aggression and other behavioral problems in adolescence and adulthood. The presentation will discuss therapeutic needs for both adults and youth impacted by attachment related disorders and early childhood trauma.
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Dealing With Differences
Diamond 3	Christine Henningsen
In this session, service providers will understand the importance of culturally competent service delivery and will discuss considerations when working with youth from different backgrounds than the provider and/or other institutional players in the juvenile court system. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Discuss common points of difference (such as class, language, culture and sexual orientation) between youth and institutional actors in the juvenile court system. • Focus on the particular impact of racial and cultural differences at all stages of the court system. • Learn to help other institutional actors understand the relevance of recognizing difference at every stage of the court process. • Learn strategies for advocating for the cultural needs of youth in the juvenile court system. • Identify resources and strategies to aid in the service delivery to youth of color and non-English speaking youth.
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Working with Families Toward Greater Things
Diamond 4	Amy Champoux, Jody Busse, Jason Warnke
Our District's work around enhanced family engagement included a literature review of model and evidenced based practices for family engagement in juvenile justice systems; including the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP), Center for Juvenile Justice Reform and Pennsylvania State's Models for Change to name a few. District 3J's Ad Maiores Family Engagement Work Group in partnership with community stakeholders, Probation Officers, youth and families then developed tools to strengthen family engagement along multiple points of contact. This work included the development of a Family Brochure, Colloquies, Youth and Parent/Guardian Satisfaction Surveys and a Family Orientation. Technical Support for this work was provided by the Mondoro Project partners which included, the Robert F Kennedy National Resource Center for Juvenile Justice, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill Impact Center and the National Juvenile Defender Center.
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Menu for Authentic Youth Engagement
Diamond 5	Shelby Rice, Hanna Burdese
Description TBA
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Building Capacity Through Advocacy: The impacts of civil legal services for children and families impacted by substance use
Diamond 7	Lawrence Gendler, Jennie Cole-Mossman
Legal Aids participating in the Office for Victims of Crime's Enhancing Community Responses to the Opioid/America's Addiction Crisis grants demonstrated that civil legal services delivered to caretakers and family members of children impacted by crime and the nation's substance use crisis could not only help short term, but build the capacity for appropriate treatments, stability and permanency for these children. This session will focus on how stakeholders and attorneys can use civil legal services to serve this population of at-risk children. Funding mechanisms to support this work will be part of the presentation.

3:00pm-4:15pm Breakout Session 3
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Family Run Organizations
Diamond 8	Jamie Legates, Karla Bennetts
Coming to grips with having a behavioral or mental health challenge often causes feelings of fear, shame, or isolation. For parents of children diagnosed with a mental health challenge, those feelings can be the same. Parents often feel self-blame, denial, and isolation. As Family Peer Support providers, we offer someone with similar lived experiences in their own parenting journey. Certified Family Peer Support Specialists offer a glimpse of hope, a listening ear without judgment and help navigating needed supports Join us to learn more about the Family Run Organizations of Nebraska & how Family Peer Support assists families and youth as they navigate the various systems of care, and some of the outcomes that can be achieved.
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	Motion Practice
Diamond 9	Gail Steen, Katy Reichert
This breakout session will focus on motion practice in juvenile court. Gail and Katy will discuss motions they have utilized in all areas of juvenile practice and the purpose of those motions. They will share insight from judges about things attorneys should and should not do in motion practice. This session will be interactive and the speakers encourage questions and collaborative brainstorming to problem-solve issues attorneys face in juvenile court.
Breakout Session 3 3:00pm-4:15pm	How We Arrived at Safe and Together
Diamond 10	Judge Chad Brown, Katie Hansen, Ray Curtis
The focus of this presentation will be Douglas County (Omaha), Nebraska's journey to identify a need for systemic change when working with child welfare cases involving domestic violence. This presentation will show how we identified: What is services are available in our community, what is working, what needs improvement, what additional considerations do we need to account for (barriers, buy in, etc.), what can we do better as a community and what we are doing to make change happen.

Agenda, Day 2

Wednesday, September 14

Time/Location	Title/ Topic and Speaker(s)	CEUs
8:30am-9:45am Breakout Session 4
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	The Other Side of the Rainbow: Impacts of anti-LGBTQ+ legislation
Diamond 1	Chelsea Schutter
This session will cover the basics of LGBTQ+ terminology and culture. It will also build upon this baseline information to address special considerations of recent movements to introduce legislation limiting LGBTQ+ identification, access to activities, and healthcare. The intention of this session is to expand your current understanding of these issues and provide perspective on the likely impact of imposing similar legislation in Nebraska.
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	The Impacts of Trauma Across Development
Diamond 2	Sarah Dunham
As a long-time provider within the Juvenile Justice and Child Welfare Systems, it appears that trauma is often an overlooked or uneducated area among workers. I am constantly explaining the basics of the effects of trauma on development in children throughout their lifespan and in addition how it can impact their lives into adulthood. There is an intense deficit on education on trauma and how this manifests throughout childhood and adolescence to impact behavior, their belief system, and future success. Not only are we lacking as a System to recognize the impacts of trauma on a child's development, but we are uninformed on effective screening techniques to identify when trauma is a part of the child's story. As the System continues to be uninformed about who they are serving, this results in a lack of awareness for the impacts of working within trauma for our workers and how they are managing their experiences. More than 80% of juvenile justice-involved youth report experiencing trauma, with many having experienced multiple, chronic, and pervasive interpersonal traumas. This exposure places them at risk for emotional, behavioral, developmental, and legal problems. Unresolved posttraumatic stress symptoms can lead to serious long-term consequences across the entire lifespan, such as problems with interpersonal relationships; cognitive functioning; and mental health disorders including PTSD, substance abuse, anxiety, disordered eating, depression, self-injury, and conduct problems—all of which can increase the likelihood of involvement in delinquency, crime, and the justice system. The prevalence and severity of traumatic stress reactions among juvenile justice-involved youth, caregivers, families, professionals, and providers, necessitates a system-wide response to prevent, identify, address, and minimize further traumatic stress.
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	Foundations of Youth Engagement
Diamond 3	Bobbi Taylor
Authentic Youth Engagement is an approach that values the wisdom and expertise of young people. It brings to life a philosophy, that policies and practices will be fundamentally better when we partner with young people who have lived experience. In this session you can expect foundational principles of youth engagement and how to begin to apply these principles to your efforts.
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	Reflective Practice: Looking at Your Work from the Inside Out
Diamond 4	Jamie Bahm
Reflective Practice is a relationship-based practice that helps enhance communication and build authentic relationships with colleagues, supervisees, and families. The FAN (facilitating attuned interactions) is a model for reflective practice that generalizable to the helping relationship and can be used in a variety of settings, including direct work with clients, the supervisory setting, and communication between professionals. Since 2016, reflective practice has been utilized in Nebraska across a spectrum of disciplines, including child welfare, the court system, various early childhood systems, home visiting, behavioral health, and more. During this session, participants will learn more about how reflective practice can be applied in their everyday work; they will be provided with an overview of the FAN model for reflective practice; and be presented with promising program evaluation findings supporting the integration of reflective practice.

8:30am-9:45am Breakout Session 4
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	Social Security Benefits for Youth in Care
Diamond 5	Rhonda Serrano
Many youth in Nebraska's foster care system receive monthly Social Security benefits, either due to their own disability or their parents' disability or death. However, the majority of youth don't know they've received these benefits, as the state receives them on their behalf then uses them to pay for their care, without notification. This practice is not unique to Nebraska, with a 2021 NPR and Marshall Project article reporting that well over a majority of states do this. In response to this report, advocates nation-wide began taking actions to mitigate this practice, including in Nebraska, with the legislature passing LB 1173 (2022) to add protections for foster youth receiving these benefits. This presentation, provided by Nebraska Appleseed, will provide an overview of Social Security Benefits for youth in foster care, including a general overview of the benefits, current state practice, law, and rights, and how attorneys, case managers, and others can better support youth's access to these benefits through affirmative engagement and right enforcement. It will also cover how to find out if youth have or are receiving these benefits, and what to do next.
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	Understanding and Implementing Tribal Customary Adoption in Iowa
Diamond 7	Diane Murphy Smith; Travis Heaton; Rosalynn Koob; Renae G Wolf; Diane Foss; Lexi Zendejas
Tribal Customary Adoption (TCA) is a permanency option which can be recommended by Iowa DHHS and pursued in child in need of assistance actions involving native children to whom ICWA applies. TCA allows Indian children to achieve permanency in a manner consistent with their tribal heritage in cases where reunification efforts have been unsuccessful despite the provision of active efforts. TCA requires concurrent jurisdiction in both the Iowa juvenile court and a partnering tribal court. Through this cooperation, the Indian child can receive the benefits of adoption, including applicable IV-E subsidies, without the culturally unsuitable requirement of an accompanying termination of parental rights. This Session will highlight the details of how we developed the idea for the process, and all the many details we have had to work through to effectuate the culturally appropriate goal of safe case closure without a termination of parental rights when reunification with a parent is not viable.
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	Thriving Families; Safer Children
Diamond 8	Jennifer Skala
As juvenile justice stakeholders, we have a responsibility to continue to improve the system in ways that directly and positively impact youth and promote their success & in school and within their families and communities. In this session, you will learn about restorative interventions that demonstrate effectiveness for reducing later law violations. Participants will hear from Tyler C. about his participation in a restorative justice (RJ) process and the impact RJ had on his life's trajectory. Participants will also learn about the expanded RJ services available through an Office of Juvenile Justice Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) grant and discover the benefits of surrogates when the victim is unable or unwilling to participate. This session will also interactively explore attendees' perspectives on RJ.
Breakout Session 4 8:30am-9:45am	Education Rights Counsel 201
Diamond 9	Lauren Micek Vargas
Education law is not well understood by a majority of advocates, parents, lawyers, judges, and even school staff. This especially applies to special education. For families, it can be daunting. This session aims to broaden a general understanding of special education law and how to appropriately incorporate it into various aspects of advocacy. In this session practitioners will receive an introduction to special education issues arising in general advocacy of students and families, how to identify education barriers in a student's life, and what questions to ask while advocating for a child.

10:00am-11:15am Breakout Session 5
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Show Me the IV-E Money (The importance of Court Orders for Child Welfare funding)
Diamond 1	Neleigh Boyer, Manuel Escamilla Cindy Reed
This is an interactive session with an open discussion of required title IV-E court order language specifically for foster care, guardianships, adoptions, Another Planned Permanent Living Arrangement (APPLA), and the Bridge to Independence programs. A general overview of title IV-E requirements will be followed with examples of good court order language that will meet IV-E guidelines. This session will provide a better understanding of the court order language required, the timing of the court orders, and real dollars and cents of how a correct court order can result in increasing resources through title IV-E funding to support child welfare services for children in Nebraska.
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Understanding Neurodevelopment and Why It Matters to Child Advocates
Diamond 2	Briana Woodside, Hayley Huyser, Jessica Schlegelmilch
It is important for all team members supporting children and families with trauma histories to be empowered to see their impact on helping to create new neural networks that support felt safety, earned secure attachment and support healthy brain development. Participants will be supported to understand the basics of neurodevelopment and how trauma affects age typical development. Presenters will provide opportunities for participants to consider the perspective of the child as well as the caregiver and how their respective neurodevelopment impacts attachment and communication patterns. In addition, various forms of treatment utilized in healing trauma will be explained
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Indian Children, Culturally Connected, Rights Protected
Diamond 3	Jill Holt
Have you ever wondered how best to distinguish between active efforts and reasonable efforts in your ICWA cases? Have you had difficulty finding QEWs to testify or had questions about who to call? Has tribal involvement been hit-or-miss in your ICWA cases? Join us for an interactive discussion of all of this AND how YOU can help improve ICWA compliance in Nebraska!
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Upstream: A Court and Community-Based Approach
Diamond 4	Teri Deal, Nora Sydow
Upstream is a community-based approach that leverages court resources, judicial leadership, and child welfare agency partnerships to enhance community collaboration through state and local coordination, community mapping, and action planning. Adapted from the Sequential Intercept Model and informed by research-based social determinants of health and risk and protective factors for child maltreatment, Upstream offers a structured process for identifying how communities can better support families. Join us to learn more and hear how communities in Nebraska can become involved.
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	"Nothing About Me Without Me": Uplifting Youth Voice in Court
Diamond 5	Rhonda Serrano
Life and family altering decisions are made in dependency court proceedings yet, historically youth have not been invited to participate in this decision making process. Authentic engagement of youth in their court proceedings is imperative for the best decisions and outcomes. This presentation will discuss why we must engage youth and explore how best to ensure that their voice is being heard.

Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Thrive Mentoring Program
Diamond 7	Anne Paine; Emily Schoenleber
The science of Resiliency is overwhelming. If we can bring at least one stable adult into a youth's life, we can dramatically improve that youth's chance of being successful. The Thrive Mentorship program is a simple grassroots program which focuses on allowing the youth to take control and start setting goals and making connections to achieve success in school and the community. There will be an overview of the program as well as mentors and youth talking about their experiences with the mentorship program.
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Juvenile Restorative Justice and Family Intervention Program
Diamond 8	Dr. Anne Hobbs; Kelly Riley; Lisa PytlíkZillig
As juvenile justice stakeholders, we have a responsibility to continue to improve the system in ways that directly and positively impact youth and promote their success in school and within their families and communities. In this session, you will learn about restorative interventions that demonstrate effectiveness for reducing later law violations. Participants will hear from Tyler C. about his participation in a restorative justice (RJ) process and the impact RJ had on his life's trajectory. Participants will also learn about the expanded RJ services available through an Office of Juvenile Justice Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) grant and discover the benefits of surrogates when the victim is unable or unwilling to participate. This session will also interactively explore attendees' perspectives on RJ.
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Education Rights Counsel 201
Diamond 9	Lauren Micek Vargas
Education law is not well understood by a majority of advocates, parents, lawyers, judges, and even school staff. This especially applies to special education. For families, it can be daunting. This session aims to broaden a general understanding of special education law and how to appropriately incorporate it into various aspects of advocacy. In this session practitioners will receive an introduction to special education issues arising in general advocacy of students and families, how to identify education barriers in a student's life, and what questions to ask while advocating for a child.
Breakout Session 5 10:00am-11:15am	Pages from the Hope Dealers Handbook
Diamond 10	Hasan Davis
Hasan believes that each person has the opportunity, and the responsibility, to influence and change the way youth encounter the education, justice, and social service systems. With the help of courageous and committed Hope Dealers, Hasan has managed to navigate many challenges and overcome major social, emotional, and physical challenges. Hasan will share the framework and strategies his personal champions (Hope Dealers) used to help him complete the JD shuffle and go from Hasan Davis, Juvenile Delinquent, to Hasan Davis, Juris Doctor. Come ready to journal, create, imagine and explore your work and experience as Hope Dealers.
11:15am-12:30pm Crystal 1-4	Lunch and Awards Presentation - Assorted Pizza (Cheese, Sausage, Pepperoni), Chicken Penne Alfredo with Broccoli, Baked Four Cheese Ravioli with Pesto Cream Sauce, Caesar Salad, Seasonal Vegetables, Assorted Italian Bread

Wednesday, September 14

Time/Location	Title/ Topic and Speaker(s)	CEUs
12:30pm-1:45pm Breakout Session 6
Breakout Session 6 12:30pm-1:45pm	Human Trafficking: Exploring Exploitation
Diamond 1	Jessica Vandercoy, Amber Smith
This session seeks to change the conversation around “vulnerabilities” and exploitation of commercially sex trafficked children.&nbsp;It explores why transactional power and lack of resources create exploitative relationships. This session offers opportunities to notice and dismantle power structures that mirror trafficker tactics and challenge service providers and decision makers.&nbsp;Participants will reflect on how structural power and control are built by systems and maintained and strengthened by the people within these systems. Participants will explore how service providers and “doing it the way its always been done” gets in the way of building trust and relationship and adequately responding to the needs of young people who experienced sex trafficking.
Breakout Session 6 12:30pm-1:45pm	Sibling Connections
Diamond 2	Cindy Reed
Siblings are not only important, they’re NECESSARY. Supporting this natural bond increases protective factors that buffer against trauma. 100% of our campers have experienced trauma - our job is to meet them where they are, navigate the weekend with them focusing on the connection between siblings! In this session we will talk about why this is NECESSARY work, how far we’ve come as a state and what still needs to be done! We’ll share strategies that support sibling bonds including how you can engage with Camp Catch-Up.
Breakout Session 6 12:30pm-1:45pm	Away From Home: Engaging and Co-Designing Participatory Research with Lived Experience
Diamond 3	Bobbi Taylor
Initiated in September 2020, this study used qualitative social research methods that aimed at putting the foster youth experience front and center. The research team conducted in-depth research interviews and cultural probes in a mutualistic, traumainformed, and participatory way in order to value current and former foster youth as the owners of their own stories. In this session you will learn how Think of Us centered Lived Experience throughout the participatory research study, and how systems and leaders may start to incorporate this level of engagement in their own work to help inform the decisions they make on behalf of young people.&nbsp;
Breakout Session 6 12:30pm-1:45pm	Legal Services for Prevention/Poverty
Diamond 5	Nathan Busch, Jennie Skala
Discussion about private / public partnerships for the provision of legal services for families as an alternative to filing in the juvenile court system.
Breakout Session 6 12:30pm-1:45pm	Working with LGBTQ+ Youth in the Juvenile Justice System
Diamond 7	Niki Svik
This is a foundational training for increased knowledge about SOGIE issues and will lead to safe, inclusive, affirming and welcoming environments for all LGBTQ+ youth who are justice involved. LGBTQ+ youth are overrepresented in both detention and probation populations. There are a number of factors that impact how individuals identifying as LGBTQ+ are brought to the attention of the juvenile justice system. This session will highlight how we should be working with these individuals and how we can be both allies and supports for the LGBTQ+ community.
Breakout Session 6 12:30pm-1:45pm	Creating the “Secret Sauce” Improving Outcomes in Domestic Violence Cases
Diamond 9	Judge Elise White, Jamie Bahm, Beth Buhr
The child welfare system has long struggled with developing a holistic and trauma-informed approach to working with families who experience domestic violence. It can be difficult for professionals to work together. Best practice identifies a collaborative team approach achieves this objective. Reconciling divergent roles is difficult for professionals in child welfare domestic violence cases. This session will provide an overview of Lancaster county’s journey from a needs assessment to the development and implementation of Nebraska’s first domestic violence-centered family dependency problem solving court, known as the Safe and Healthy Families Court.
1:45pm-2:15pm	Break - Rice Krispie Treats, Assorted Cookies, Fresh Fruit

2:15pm-3:45pm Keynote
Crystal 1-4 Hasan Davis
Calling All Hope Dealers! Everyone Has a Story, Every Story Deserves Heroes
Hasan Davis will share his experience of often interrupted transitions through education, justice, and social support systems. Throughout Hasan’s journey outliers and resisters found ways to engage, encourage and empower him. With the support of these “Hope Dealers,” Hasan transcended his mounting list of “failures” to become an advocate for himself and eventually a champion for others. Through story and poetry, Hasan will share how his champions (Hope Dealers) helped him complete the “JD shuffle” going from Hasan Davis, Juvenile Delinquent to Hasan Davis, Juris Doctor.&nbsp;&nbsp;Come ready to celebrate, recharge and recommit to being the Hope Dealers that you are.

Deanna Brakhage

Chad Brown

The honorable Chad Brown is proud to serve as a juvenile court judge in Douglas County, which includes Nebraska's largest metropolitan area, Omaha. In his position, he has represented the juvenile bench in numerous Supreme Court and interdisciplinary committees to improve the services provided to children and families across the state. His judicial rulings are guided by a good sense of humor, innovative thinking, and a core belief that children are motivated by believing that someone truly cares about them.

Prior to being appointed to the bench, Brown served Douglas County for twelve years as a Deputy County Attorney and for four years as a private defense attorney focused on criminal and juvenile court cases. His prosecution career included time in the Domestic Violence Unit where he and his team earned the Domestic Violence Coordinating Council (DVCC) award for outstanding service to their community. He then transitioned to the Juvenile Division and was tapped to create and lead Douglas County's first specialized unit in the termination of parental rights.

Brown ended his career as a practicing attorney in the Douglas County Attorney's Felonies Division. During that time, he was honored to lead a multidisciplinary collaborative to improve services to those challenged by mental health. In addition, he specialized in prosecuting young defendants. His desire to reach youth prior to their entering the adult system is what eventually motivated him to become a juvenile judge.

Brown is a graduate of Creighton University School of Law. When not in court, he spends his time on the court coaching youth basketball. Alongside his devoted wife, Hope, he is raising four children - none of which will follow his orders nor stand when he enters the room.

Beth Buhr

Beth has been with the department since 2012 when she started as a supervisor covering the 7 southeastern rural counties of the service area. She transitioned into her current position in 2017. Beth started her work in Child Welfare in 2009 during privatization as a service coordinator, she then became a trainer until her transition to HHS. Beth has her bachelors degree in Human Relations and her Masters degree in Management, both achieved from Doane College. Beth has been trained in the Safe & Together Model through completion of their CORE training.

Martin Molina "Marty Molina is a Specialized Probation Officer for District 3J Juvenile Probation in Lancaster County, Lincoln Nebraska. Mr. Molina has almost 7 years of experience with District 3J Probation. Prior to his role with Probation, Mr. Molina started his career with the State of Nebraska in August 2013 at the Youth Rehabilitation Treatment Center in Kearney, Nebraska, working as a Youth Security Specialist. He worked there for 6 months as he was finishing his bachelor's degree at the University of Nebraska-Kearney. Upon graduation, he moved to Lincoln where he was hired at the Lincoln Regional Center as a Mental Health Security Specialist. After 2 years in that role, Mr. Molina started his career with Probation in January 2016.

He began serving as a Community Based Resources Officer (CBR), working with lower risk youth on Juvenile Probation. He then began serving as a Community Based Interventions Officer (CBI) in 2018, working with higher risk youth on Juvenile Probation. Mr. Molina's role has expanded into different subcommittees within District 3J Probation, including taking an active role with the Gang committee as well as the Case Closure committee. Participating on the gang committee has allowed Mr. Molina the experience of meeting with Sergeant Jeff Sorenson of the Lincoln Police Department Gang Unit on a monthly basis to discuss the population of youth on Juvenile Probation and whom LPD has identified as gang affiliated. This has also allowed the experience of brainstorming different strategies and programming to offer that population of youth. Mr. Molina also worked with the Case Closure committee to develop a new process and format for Case Closure's. District 3J was selected as the front runner for this project and was responsible for implementing the new process and format, as well as seeking to implement this process statewide. Mr. Molina will take part in presenting on this topic at the upcoming CIP Children's Summit alongside JCBI Officer Danelle Reed and Juvenile Justice Reform Specialist Amoreena Brady."

Michelle Nunemaker Michelle Nunemaker is the System of Care Administrator with the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), Division of Behavioral Health. Danelle Reed "Danelle Reed is a Specialized Probation Officer in District 3J, Nebraska State Probation. She began serving in this capacity in October 2020. Ms. Reed has a lengthy history within the probation system and has served in numerous roles. In 1998 she graduated from Peru State College with a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice. From there she moved into a role as a Life skills/Aftercare/Youth Diversion Specialist with CJ's Young Futures in Council Bluffs, Iowa. In her capacity Ms. Reed worked with a small caseload facilitating a life skills group, ensuring youth accountability and assisted in the reintegration of youth into their communities. In March of 1999 Ms. Reed moved into the role of Social Service Worker with the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. While in this role Ms. Reed managed a large caseload of Medicaid recipients and helped determine eligibility for economic assistance.

When first beginning at Nebraska State Probation, Ms. Reed took on the roles of a supervising officer as well as in an intake role and investigation writer. Eventually, the structure within probation changed, leading to more specialized roles. Ms. Reed became one of the district's first Community Based Intervention (CBI) officers in which she supervised high risk youth, to include, at one point, a case load of gang involved youth. This role provided Ms. Reed the opportunity to participate in the beginnings of the program Operation Tipping Point, and networking with the Lincoln Police gang taskforce. In addition, during this period of time, Ms. Reed took the organizational lead in the district with the Project Safe Neighborhood details led by the Lincoln Police Department. Ms. Reed has also worked within the district as a Community Based Resource (CBR) officer as well as a Predisposition Investigation Officer. Ms. Reed is a trainer within the Nebraska State Probation district and has trained new probation officers on various topics including intake, predisposition investigations and currently the YLS. Ms. Reed has been on numerous committees throughout her time with probation and currently has been involved with the Robert F. Kennedy, Dennis Mondoro Project in Lancaster County by sitting as the chair on the Case Closure committee as well as serving on a trauma sub-committee of the Adolescent Brain Development group."

Antoinette Rucker "Antoinette Rucker is a child welfare consultant based out of Atlanta and is currently a Master of Public Administration candidate at Clayton State University. She is also the founder of Fostering Through College (FTC), a comprehensive support program that strives to empower foster youth transitioning into post-secondary education at Albany State University. Zealous about youth voice and dedicated to ensuring that all young people make healthy and successful transitions from the child welfare system, Antoinette has a myriad of child welfare experience spanning over 10 years.

As a result of both her professional and lived experience, Antoinette understands the unique and delicate needs of transition age foster youth and strives to empower agencies and organizations to rethink the ways in which they service young people impacted by the child welfare system. Speaking truths to power, recognizing data as a nexus and authentic/adult partnerships are essential to Antoinette's mission and as a result she has partnered with several state, national and even global organizations to provide technical assistance and insight on best practices helping agencies optimize practice. Some of these organizations include Accenture, Cetera, Inc., IGC Core, The Jim Casey Youth Opportunities Initiative via The Annie E. Casey Foundation, The Multi Agency Alliance for Children, Embark Georgia, The NSORO foundation and Foster Club to name a few.

Because of her versatility, passion and tenacity, Antoinette was presented with the "2016 Shinning Star" award from the Multi Agency Alliance for Children, the "2014 Advocate of the Year" award by the Georgia Conference on Children and Families, and the "2017 Mary Church Terrell Public Servant" Award from the East Point College Park Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated. Antoinette has proudly served as a member of the National Foster Care Youth & Alumni Policy Council and as a board member for a girls empowerment initiative out of Atlanta called G.E.M.S (Girls Empowered and Motivated to Succeed). She believes that giving back is a universal opportunity regardless of a person's background and she holds that anyone who cares has the capacity to create change."

Josh Shipp

"Statistically, Josh Shipp should be dead, in jail, or homeless. But his success as a preeminent author, speaker, and global youth empowerment expert is living proof of the power of one caring adult. A former at-risk foster kid turned youth advocate, Josh is renowned for the documentary TV series on A&E that followed his groundbreaking work with youth and families.

He has written two national bestsellers to date, "The Grown-Up's Guide to Teenage Humans" – winner of the Nautilus Gold Award for Parenting & Family – and "The Teen's Guide to World Domination."

Thanks to the support of teachers, counselors, and a wonderful set of foster parents, Josh went on to be listed on Inc. Magazine's 30 under 30 list, and is now a postgraduate student at Harvard himself, further honing his skills in persuasive communication.

Josh is regularly called on by OPRAH, CNN, FOX, The New York Times, 20/20, Good Morning America, and others to provide commentary on common challenges faced by parents and teachers. Over the years, Josh has keynoted events for countless groups of parents, educators, and social workers – with audiences as large as 55,000 – and to date has spoken live in front of more than two million people. Viral clips of his acclaimed presentations have been viewed an estimated 50 million times online through platforms such as UpWorthy, Goalcast, and BuzzFeed.

To serve his ultimate goal of reaching as many youth as possible, Josh trains other speakers through Youth Speaker University, helping them use their own stories to make an impact. His social and emotional learning curriculum, Year of Awesomeness, is in use in hundreds of classrooms all around the world, while his free newsletter offers practical strategies to 200K+ parents, educators, and social workers."

Jennifer Skala

"Jennifer Skala is Senior Vice President at Nebraska Children and brings her previous experience from multiple arenas including non-profit, school, nursing home, daycare, University, local public health department and other organizations to promote community solutions for child well-being. At Nebraska Children, she is focused on improving collective impact for child well-being working with internal and external partners to develop a collaborative prevention system for Nebraska. She works to align key partners, utilize data and leverage relationships for funding, advocacy, sustainability and system improvements in carrying out the mission of the organization. In addition, she works to ensure that communities have a voice in decisions and opportunities to engage in processes for decisions that are community owned. She and partners have developed a nationally recognized model for community change and built private-public partnerships for policy and practice changes in foster care and prevention.

Prior to her current position, she was the Manager of Education and Training at CityMatCH, a national Maternal and Child Health organization (based at the University of Nebraska Medical Center).
