Affirmative Dispute Resolution names Folkerts, Wood to staff

Affirmative Dispute Resolution has named Kathleen Folkerts to its ADR neutral roster to assist with conflict coaching and mediation in Nebraska. Eric Wood has been added to assist with mediation.

A conflict specialist with formal training in resolving disputes, Folkerts has studied negotiation and dispute resolution at the Werner Institute at Creighton University. She will assist with resolving a variety of disputes, including business, community, and intense family law matters including the mediation of parenting plans. Folkerts will also assist business and nonprofit organizations with conflict coaching.

Wood has over 34 years of law practice experience and has been a mediator for 15 years. He has a master's degree in business management. Wood will assist with resolving a variety of conflict, including agricultural, business, banking, real estate and estate planning disputes.
